

Abstract

Comforting an orphaned nation: Representations of international adoption and adopted Koreans in Korean popular culture

From its beginning at the time of the Korean War, international adoption from Korea has continued for over half a century, resulting in a population of 156,000 adopted Koreans divided between 15 host countries, and still over 2,000 children are leaving Korea annually. Ever since the end of the 1980s, the adoption issue has been a recurring subject in Korean media and popular culture. This is a study of popular cultural representations of adopted Koreans, the scope of which has been restricted to overseas adoptees in Western countries. The study is carried out from a postcolonial perspective and uses a cultural studies reading of popular cultural representation, and four feature films and four popular songs as primary sources. The aim is to examine how nationalism is articulated in various ways in eight popular cultural representations of adopted Koreans in light of the colonial experiences in modern Korean history and recent postcolonial developments within the contemporary Korean society. The principal question addressed is: what are the implications for a nation depicting itself as one extended family and which has sent away so many of its own children, and what are the reactions from a culture emphasising homogeneity when encountering and dealing with the adopted Koreans?

After an introductory chapter, Chapter 2 gives the cultural background of adoption in Korean tradition and the history of international adoption from Korea. Chapter 3 is an account of the development of the adoption issue in the political discussion and the appearance of adopted Koreans in Korean popular culture. Chapters 4, 5, 6 and 7 analyse the cinematic and lyrical representations of adopted Koreans in four feature films and popular songs respectively. Chapter 4 considers the gendering of the colonised nation and the maternalisation of roots in Chang Kil-su's Susanne Brink's Arirang (1991) and Sinawe's Motherland (1997), drawing on theories of nationalism as a gendered discourse. Chapter 5 examines the issue of hybridity and the relationship between Koreanness and Whiteness in Kim Ki-duk's Wild Animals (1997) and Moon Hee Jun's Alone (2001), including its album cover, which are related to the notions of third space, mimicry and passing. Linked to studies of national division, reunification and family separation, Chapter 6 looks at the adopted Koreans as symbols of a fractured and fragmented nation in Park Kwang-su's Berlin Report (1991) and Clon's Abandoned Child (1999). Chapter 7 focuses on the emergence of a global Korean community in Lee Jang-soo's Love (1999) and Sky's Eternity (1999), including its music video, with regards to theories of globalisation, diasporas and transnationalism. In the concluding chapter, the study argues that the Korean adoption issue can be conceptualised as an attempt at overcoming a difficult past and imagining a common future for all ethnic Koreans at a transnational level.

Keywords: Korean studies, international adoption, adopted Koreans, postcolonial studies, cultural studies, nationalism, diaspora, representation, popular culture, reconciliation

Tobias Hübinette, Multicultural Centre, Botkyrka, Sweden

Related publications

2001

“Sverige och adoptionsfrågan i Korea” [Sweden and the adoption issue in Korea], Invandrar rapport: Invandrarnas debatt- och kulturtidskrift no. 4/2001 (vol. 29), pp. 14-22.

2002

“Koreas skingrade barn” [Korea’s scattered children], Dagens Nyheter: Kultur 2002-04-17, p. B5.

“Adoptionsfrågan i Korea” [The adoption issue of Korea], Häftet för Kritiska Studier no. 1/2002 (vol. 35), pp. 58-64.

“Korea och adoptivbarnen” [Korea and the adopted children], Invandrare & Minoriteter no. 4/2002 (vol. 29), pp. 37-40.

“Adoptionsfrågan i koreansk populärkultur. Att skapa en diskurs om adoptivkoreaner” [The adoption issue in Korean popular culture. The creation of a discourse on adopted Koreans], Kulturella Perspektiv: Svensk etnologisk tidskrift no. 4/2002 (vol. 11), pp. 25-33.

“The adoption issue in Korea: Diaspora politics in the age of globalization”, Stockholm Journal of East Asian Studies vol. 12/2002, pp. 141-53.

“Adoption som ämne i koreansk populärkultur Del 1” [Adoption as a subject in Korean popular culture Part 1], Yoboseyo: Koreanska sällskapetets tidskrift sedan 1961 no. 2/2002 (vol. 42), pp. 5-6.

“Adoption som ämne i koreansk populärkultur Del 2” [Adoption as a subject in Korean popular culture Part 2], Yoboseyo: Koreanska sällskapetets tidskrift sedan 1961 no. 3/2002 (vol. 42), p. 15.

2003

“President Kim and adoption”, Korean Quarterly no. 1/2003 (vol. 6), pp. 27-28.

“The adopted Koreans of Sweden and the Korean adoption issue”, The Review of Korean Studies no. 1/2003 (vol. 6), pp. 251-266.

“Sverige och adoptionsfrågan i Korea” [Sweden and the adoption issue in Korea], Um & Yang: Medlemstidning för Adopterade Koreaners Förening no. 1/2003 (vol. 12), pp. 31-35.

“President Kim Dae Jung och adoptionsfrågan i Korea” [President Kim Dae Jung and the adoption issue in Korea], Yoboseyo: Koreanska sällskapetets tidskrift sedan 1961 no. 2/2003 (vol. 43), pp. 4-5.

2004

“Korea(n) divided: Third space existence in Kim Ki Duk’s Wild Animals”, Graduate Journal of Asia-Pacific Studies no. 2/2004 (vol. 2), pp. 18-29.

2005

“Reconciling the past/Imagining the future: The Korean adoption issue and representations of adopted Koreans in Korean popular culture”, Asian Cinema: Published twice yearly by the Asian Cinema Studies Society no. 2/2005 (vol. 16), pp. 110-121.

“Adoption ur ett koreanskt och ett svenskt perspektiv” [Adoption from a Korean and a Swedish perspective], Barnboken: Svenska barnboksinstitutets tidskrift no. 2/2005 (vol. 28), pp. 23-32.

Comforting an orphaned nation. Representations of international adoption and adopted Koreans in Korean popular culture, Stockholm University: Department of Oriental Languages, 2005, 265 p.

“The orphaned nation: Korea imagined as an overseas adopted child in Clon’s Abandoned Child and Park Kwang-su’s Berlin Report”, Inter-Asia Cultural Studies no. 2/2005 (vol. 6), pp. 227-244.

“The nation is a woman: The Korean nation embodied as an overseas adopted woman in Chang Kil-su’s Susanne Brink’s Arirang”, Intersections: Gender, History and Culture in the Asian Context vol. 11/2005, 12 p.

2006

“Hämnd och försoning” [Revenge and reconciliation], Arbetaren no. 11/2006 (vol. 85), pp. 9.

Comforting an orphaned nation. Representations of international adoption and adopted Koreans in Korean popular culture, Korean Studies Series No. 32, Seoul: Jimoondang Publishing Company, 2006, 263 p.

“Korea söker försoning med bortadopterade barn” [Korea’s quest for reconciliation with its overseas adopted children], ETC 2006-01-24, 3 p.

“Adoptivkoreanerna i Sverige och adoptionsfrågan i Korea” [The adopted Koreans of Sweden and the Korean adoption issue], Um & Yang: Medlemstidning för Adopterade Koreaners Förening no. 3/2006 (vol. 15), pp. 8-13.

“Korea söker försoning med sina bortadopterade barn” [Korea’s quest for reconciliation with its overseas adopted children], Um & Yang: Medlemstidning för Adopterade Koreaners Förening no. 3/2006 (vol. 15), pp. 32-33.

2007

“The Korean adoption issue and representations of adopted Koreans in Korean popular culture”, in Kathleen Ja Sook Bergquist, Elizabeth Vonk, Dong Soo Kim &

Marvin D. Feit (ed.), International Korean adoption: A fifty-year history of policy and practice, New York: Haworth Press, 2007, pp. 221-233.

“Nationalism, subalternity, and the adopted Koreans”, Journal of Women’s History no. 1/2007 (vol. 19), pp. 117-122.

2008

Haeoeibyang’gwa hangukminjokjuûi: Hangukdaejungmunhwaê nat’anan haeoeibyang’gwa ibyanghangukinûi mosûb [Overseas adoption and Korean nationalism: Images of overseas adoption and adopted Koreans in Korean popular culture], Seoul: Sonamoo, 2008, 383 p.

2009

The Korean adoption issue between modernity and coloniality. Transnational adoption and overseas adoptees in Korean popular culture, Köln: Lambert Academic Publishing, 2009, 230 p.

Related presentations

2001

“Adoptionsfrågan i Korea. En presentation av ett avhandlingsprojekt” [The adoption issue in Korea. A presentation of a Ph.D. project], Department of Oriental Languages, Stockholm University, Stockholm, 2001-10-11.

2002

“Adoptionsfrågan i Korea” [The adoption issue in Korea], Adoption Seminar, Department of Oriental Languages, Stockholm University, Stockholm, 2002-02-15.

“The adoption issue in Korea: Diaspora politics in the age of globalization”, 7th Korean Studies Graduate Student Conference, Korea Institute, Harvard University, Cambridge, 2002-03-09.

2003

“Adoptionsfrågan i Korea” [The adoption issue in Korea], Research Day, Department of Oriental Languages, Stockholm University, Stockholm, 2003-02-14.

“The Korean adoption issue: Images of adopted Koreans in Korean media and popular culture”, Tagung der Deutschen Gesellschaft für Völkerkunde e.V., Deutsche Gesellschaft für Völkerkunde e.V, Universität Hamburg, Hamburg, 2003-10-04.

2004

“President Kim Dae Jung och den koreanska adoptionsfrågan” [President Kim Dae Jung and the Korean adoption issue], Research Day, Department of Oriental Languages, Stockholm University, Stockholm, 2004-02-20.

“Reconciling the past/Imagining the future: The Korean adoption issue and representations of adopted Koreans in Korean popular culture”, 6th symposium of Nordic Association for Japanese and Korean Studies, Department of Oriental and African Languages, Göteborg University, Gothenburg, 2004-08-20.

“The suffering and shaming of the nation: The Korean nation embodied as an overseas adopted woman in the the Korean feature film Susanne Brink’s Arirang”, Intersectional meetings: Ethnicity, gender, class and sexuality..., Center for Gender Studies, Stockholm University, Stockholm, 2004-10-05.

2005

“The orphaned nation: Korea imagined and represented as an overseas adopted child in Clon’s pop song Abandoned Child and in Park Kwang-su’s feature film Berlin Report”, 7th Multidisciplinary Research Day, Center for the Study of Children’s Culture, Stockholm University, Stockholm, 2005-04-22.

“Adoptionsfrågan i Korea. En redogörelse för ett avhandlingsprojekt” [The adoption issue in Korea. An account of a Ph.D. project], Department of Oriental Languages, Stockholm University, Stockholm, 2005-06-03.

“Nationalism, subalternity and the adopted Koreans”, 13th Berkshire Conference on the History of Women, Scripps College, Claremont, 2005-06-04.

+ Su-yoon Ko & Jenny Na, “Representations of international adoption and overseas adoptees in Korean media and popular culture”/”Hanguk midŏwa taejungmunhwaê pich’uôjinûn haeoeibyang’gwa ibyangin”, 6th Conference of the Global Overseas Adoptees’ Link, Konkuk University, Seoul, 2005-08-20, in Forging a New Community. GOAL’s 6th Annual Conference August 19-20, 2005, Seoul: Global Overseas Adoptees’ Link, 2005, pp. 56-69/70-79.

“Representations of adopted Koreans in Korean popular culture”, 1st International Conference on Adoption and Culture of the Alliance for the Study of Adoption, Identity and Kinship, Department of English, University of Tampa, Tampa, 2005-11-18.

2006

“En introduktion till koreansk film, den nya koreanska filmvågen och regissör Kim Ki-duk” [An introduction to Korean cinema, the new Korean film wave, and director Kim Ki-duk], Biografen Elektra, Västerås, 2006-04-07.

“Representations of international adoption and overseas adoptees in Korean media and popular culture”, 8th Conference of the Korean American Adoptee Adoptive Family Network, Renaissance Seoul Hotel, Seoul, 2006-06-30.

“Adoptionsfrågan i koreansk populärkultur” [The adoption issue in Korean popular culture], 8:e Forskardagarna 2006, Stockholms universitet, Stockholm, 2006-10-18 + 2006-10-19.

2007

+ Jenny Na & Jane Jeong Trenka, “Representations of international adoption and overseas Aadoptees in Korean media and popular culture”, The International Korean Adoptee Associations Gathering 2007, Dongguk University, Seoul, 2007-08-02.